“A marvelous blend of whimsy, terror and deep feeling.” — NPR Best Books of the Year

In Lizbet Lenz’s world, the sun still goes around the earth. God speaks directly to his worshippers. Goblins haunt cellars. Witches lurk in forests. When her father is tossed into the dungeon for a spell gone wrong, the only one who can help Lizbet is the unpleasant and sarcastic witch girl Strix.

“One of those books that are simultaneously so startlingly original and deeply familiar I can’t quite believe they’re debuts. . . . a marvel of storytelling, balancing humor, terror and grace.”
— Amal El-Mohtar, New York Times Book Review

★ “Genuinely thrilling.”
— Kirkus Reviews

FANTASY WAS NEVER QUITE LIKE THIS.

Elliott is grumpy, nerdy, and appalled by the dearth of technology and the levels of fitness involved in swinging swords around. He’s a little enchanted by elves and mermaids. Despite his aversion to war, work, and most people (human or otherwise) he finds that friendship and world peace, may actually be possible.

“Hilarious and sneakily moving.” — New York Times Book Review

“A treat. It’s full of romance in all directions, plenty of fantasy trope subversions, Brennan’s typical insouciant wit.” — Vox

★ “Hilarious, irreverent, and multilayered.” — Publishers Weekly (starred review)
