BRITISH FANTASY AWARD WINNER
LADIES OF HORROR FICTION AWARD WINNER

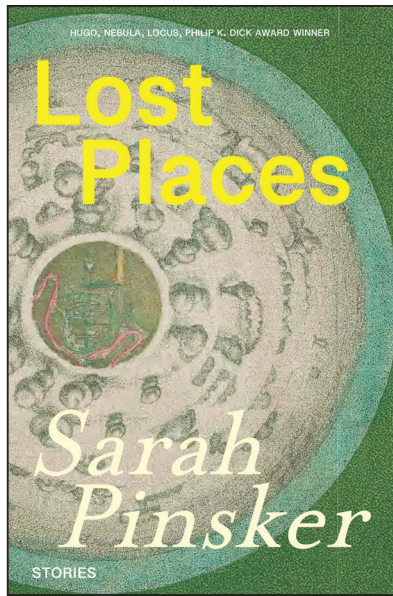

"Drawing from science fiction, Filipino folklore, fantasy and horror, these thirteen stories are monstrous, scary, joyful, unexpected, inventive, eerie and weird."
— Ms. Magazine

HURSTON/WRIGHT LEGACY AWARD NOMINEE

"This collection is such a punch. From the opening story right on through it is putting you on notice."
— Book Riot

Celebrating a new collection from Sarah Pinsker author of Nebula Award winner A Song for a New Day and Philip K Dick Award winner Sooner or Later Everything Falls Into the Sea.

A living flag. A mysterious ballad. A hotel that shouldn't exist. A group of girls goes camping. A half-remembered children's TV show.

Nebula and Hugo Award-winning author Sarah Pinsker's second collection brings together a seemingly eclectic group of stories that unite behind certain themes: her touchstones of music and memory are joined by stories about secret subversions and hidden messages in art, lost routes, last chances.

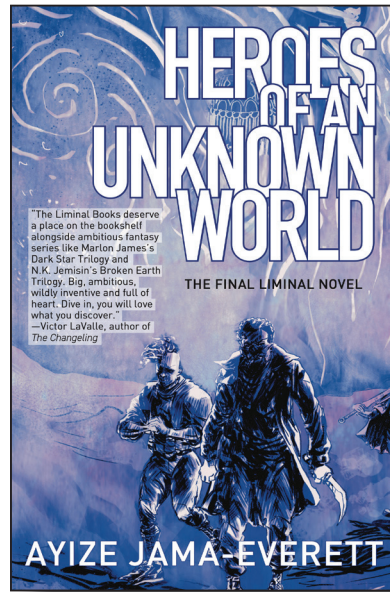

Pinsker's dozen stories span and transcend genre labels, looking for the truth in strange situations from possible futures to impossible pasts.

Includes "Science Facts!" a new story published here for the first time.

THE FINAL LIMINAL NOVEL

"Therapist and theologian Jama-Everett takes his group of Black superheroes from 1970s London to contemporary Morocco in the fascinating and action-packed final Liminal novel (after The Liminal War). . . . Series fans and new readers alike are sure to be drawn in."

— Publishers Weekly

"The Liminal Books deserve a place on the bookshelf alongside ambitious fantasy series like Marlon James's Dark Star Trilogy and N. K. Jemisin's Broken Earth Trilogy. Big, ambitious, wildly inventive and full of heart. Heroes of an Unknown World displays the voice and verve that are staples of Ayize Jama-Everett's work. Dive in, you will love what you discover."

—Victor LaValle, author of The Changeling

"Ayize Jama-Everett is a towering talent and one of the best genre-writers working today. His final installment of his masterfully told Liminal Series; Heroes of an Unknown World is a taut, textured feast for the minds of any ravenous reader who's looking for something fresh and exciting to experience." — John Jennings

"A rollicking, irreverent action sci-fi filled with anime-esque feats, a deep appreciation for culture, and sparkling humanity." — Elwin Cotman, author of Dance on Saturday

Sometimes a door will open into a new world, sometimes into the past. Putting on a costume might be the restart you are half hoping for. There are things buried here. You might want to save them. You might want to get out of the way.

"Gorgeously mesmerizing."
— San Francisco Review

"Wonderfully insidious."
— Locus

"Butner writes feelingly about human connection and loss, and about the challenge of moving forward without losing touch with the past."
— Steve Pfarrar, Daily Hampshire Gazette

In 1888 Shannon, a Chicago private detective, goes home to Texas for a wedding and is asked by Galveston's new rabbi to locate swindlers, claiming to be seeking money for a future colony of Romanian Jewish refugees, and a man named Silverberg who has disappeared in Texas along with them.

"One of the mostly deeply weird novels I've read in some time . . . hallucinatory and dreamlike . . . gritty and naturalistic."
— Gary K. Wolfe, Locus

★ "Steeped in the early history of Texas's statehood and laced with eerie portents of supernatural horror."
— Publishers Weekly (starred review)
